

EDGE Policy Update

April 2024

On April 4th, an agreement was reached between the Governor and the Legislature to tackle the state's deficit. The Early Action budget blueprint aims to slash the deficit by around $17.3 billion. View the key points of the agreement here.

Despite the green light on the budget deal, numerous proposals from the January budget, focusing on cutting and postponing vital education and workforce initiatives, are still on the table for debate. Currently, the Governor and Legislature are deliberating on various investments in education and workforce development, including the Cradle-to-Career Data System, High Road Training Partnerships, CA Youth Apprenticeship, Women in Construction, Cal Grant Reform, and student housing. In the forthcoming weeks, the Legislature will continue to hold budget hearings regarding these pending proposals and will make decisions on crucial budget matters leading up to the Governor's May Revision. You can access our budget letter here.

In addition to the ongoing budget discussions, the Legislature is actively conducting policy committee hearings to advance a wide array of bills. Many of these bills seek to eliminate socioeconomic barriers for underserved working families, displaced workers, small businesses, opportunity youth, and returning students. The deadline for policy committees to submit all fiscal bills to the Appropriations committee is April 26th.

Below is a list of bills EDGE is closely tracking. An official position is noted if it has been approved by our coalition. This is a dynamic list that will be updated as we continue to analyze legislation and as bills move forward, or not, this session.
